

—McNary Dam—

Power Policy Is Defended

Ike Says Both Public And Private Groups Can Work As Partners

McNARY DAM, Ore. (AP)—President Eisenhower brought his campaign for a Republican Congress to the Pacific Northwest Thursday by telling between 35,000 and 40,000 persons that local public and private power agencies "can work in the public interest as well as some far-off federal agency. They ought to do better."

Dedicating the 286-million-dollar McNary Dam, the President argued against the "malignant growth of bureaucracy" which he said comes from "conversion of local regions into federal satellites."

He was flanked by Secretary of the Army Stevens, Secretary of the Interior McKay, and the governors and congressmen of the three Pacific Northwest states when he turned on the fifth generator at the mammoth dam.

Spirited Appeal. —But before he came to the dam he made his most spirited political appeal when he told a breakfast meeting of 40 Oregon and Washington political leaders:

"Politics will have a field day if the Democrats succeed in recapturing control of Congress."

The President's speech at the dam was a vigorous defense of his power policy which is the No. 1 issue in congressional elections in the northwest.

Answering Democratic charges that the Republican power policy is a "giveaway" program, President Eisenhower described the Democratic policies of federal development of the Columbia River as a "monopoly always potentially dangerous to freedom."

He cited McNary Dam, built by the Army Corps of Engineers, as an example of "national responsibility properly assumed by the federal government."

The President declared that his administration would support similar new projects which are too big for local agencies to finance.

Same Goal, He Says.

"Your goal," the President said, "and the goal of the federal government, are exactly the same: To assure each citizen of enough kilowatts when he wants them, where he wants them, at the lowest competitive cost—with the least likelihood of bureaucratic domination from Washington, D.C."

"In this effort we shall avoid extremes. We shall neither withdraw from the power field nor federalize all electric power generators in the United States. Instead we shall continue to advance in a spirit of helpfulness to localities, and in a spirit of co-operation with local citizens."

"Where local enterprise can shoulder the burden, it will be encouraged and supported in doing so."

"But where local action cannot or should not fully meet the need, we shall have federal action."

The crowd, standing in a hot sun, interrupted the speech a half dozen times with scattered applause.

Toll Road Survey Begins

S/Sgt. Kenneth H. Tschantre of the Lincoln Air Force Base draws pleasant duty during his off-hours as he interviews Motorist Lenora Grotte of 1830 E as part of the Nebraska toll road survey. Interviewers were all LAFB air police working at the roadblock set up on Highway 6 at the Waverly truck weighing stop during their free time. The survey is being conducted by a private engineering firm to determine whether or not a toll road crossing Nebraska will pay. Interviews of motorists and truckers will be continued at Waverly through Monday. Tuesday, the interviews will be held at the truck weighing stop one mile east of Wahoo on Highway 30-alternate and on Wednesday, on Highway 34 between Lincoln and Eagle. (Star Photo)

News Around The Globe

19 Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said Thursday the Army plans to maintain 19 divisions, which means it will have to form two regular divisions to replace the two remaining National Guard outfits scheduled to be returned to state control this fall.

Departure from federal service of the 44th and 47th, the last two of the eight National Guard divisions called up during the Korean War, will leave 17 divisions of the regular Army list, but Wilson told a news conference he knew of no plans to drop below 19 major combat units.

Time Has Come

PARIS (INS)—Belief was expressed by former U.S. Ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy that the time has come to let America's European Allies make up their minds about their collective defense and German re-armament.

In an exclusive interview with International News Service, Kennedy said he thought Uncle Sam ought to cease pursuing a policy of frustration in respect to Europe. "We should certainly maintain an interest in Europe, but we should stop trying to run Europe's affairs," Kennedy added.

Dulles Blamed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) blamed Secretary of State Dulles and the Republicans for what he called allowing "America's prestige and moral leadership to drop to an all-time low."

"The election this fall of a firmly Democratic Senate would send a thrill of encouragement to believers in peace around the world," Kefauver said.

$500 Alimony

ZURICH (INS)—Beautiful Joanne Connelly, who claims her Bolivian tin heir-husband James Ortiz Patino has a 60 million dollar share in his family's 50 billion dollar fortune, was awarded $500 temporary monthly alimony by a Swiss court.

The former New York socialite had asked for $4,000 a month.

Jet Fuel Tank Blast Kills 25

14 Reported Hurt At Bitburg, Germany

BITBURG, Germany (AP)—An underground American jet fuel storage tank exploded with a mighty roar Thursday during a fire-fighting demonstration.

French military police said 25 persons were killed and 14 injured. German officials earlier had placed the death toll at 28.

The 12,000-gallon tank was one of several at the German end of the NATO pipeline which pumps jet plane fuel from French ports.

The dead were all believed to be Frenchmen and Germans. German police said no American victims have been reported.

The tank — built into a former bunker of Germany's Siegfried line — exploded as it was being filled during dedication ceremonies.

10,000 Feet

It was located at the terminal of a fuel pipeline running from France and under control of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The explosion sent a column of thick, black smoke 10,000 feet into the air.

The U.S. Army, which supplies the Air Force with fuel from the storage area near Bitburg, said at least 25 persons were killed. German officials later reported the figure was 28.

The Army said a company of French soldiers was in charge of maintenance at the pipeline terminal.

Cause of the explosion and the amount of damage were not determined.

Beatrice Cop Is Hurt In Accident

A BEATRICE policeman, Donald C. Jones, was injured Thursday in a truck-car collision on the Salt Creek bridge near Asiland.

He was rushed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where he was treated for scalp laceration and later released.

Jones was a passenger in a car which collided with a truck that overturned on the bridge, the Safety Patrol said. No one else was injured.

Judge Donald H. Hunter studied the case several days, then ruled the farmer must serve 15 days in the county jail.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity was in the midst of long tug of war with a rival fraternity over a prize bell Thursday night when three Deltas collapsed in their work.

Roger Blakeman, 17, and Roger Sage, 19, both of 715 No. 16th, were reported in "good condition" at Lincoln General Hospital early Friday morning. They were taken there by ambulance.

Another boy, Alan Aden, 21, of the same address, was released after treatment.

Boy Scouts Plan 1-Day Fund Drive

Plans to raise $25,000 in 80 communities in the Boy Scout Cornhusker Council were made at a dinner meeting at First Methodist Church here Thursday.

About 100 men representing 35 communities attended the meeting to plan their dawn-to-dusk drives which will be part of a statewide drive Oct. 19.

The drive will not be conducted in Lincoln, Beatrice, Fairbury or Nebraska City. These cities have a total budget of $25,000 in Community Chest funds for the Boy Scouts.

Discussion leaders at the meeting here were Edward A. Becker, W. A. Fraser, Grey Jewett, Myron Weil, Robert McNutt, W. E. Haydon and Ivan Fleming, all of Lincoln, Roy Steinheider of Auburn and Frank Sorrell of Syracuse.

LA GRANGE, Ind. (INS)—A 49-year-old Amish farmer today faces the prospect of a long jail stay after being found guilty of not having license plates for his horse-powered buggy.

Sam Bontrager, or near La Grange, refused to buy registration plates for a non-motor vehicle as required by state law when buggies are used on public highways. The Amish farmer said the law was a violation of his religious freedom.

Judge Donald H. Hunter studied the case several days, then ruled the farmer must serve 15 days in the county jail.

AFL Delegates Condemn Eisenhower Administration

Large Worker
Turnout At Fall
Election Urged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The AFL convention Thursday passed by voice vote a resolution condemning the Eisenhower administration and urging a large worker turnout in this fall's election.

Delegates approved a resolution saying, "Two years of the present administration's rule in Washington have demonstrated that the forces of reaction which that administration represents are pursuing the same philosophy of government which brought our nation to the brink of economic disaster prior to the New Deal."

"The present administration has been guilty of many crimes of omission and commission," the resolution said.

Promises

It accused President Eisenhower of "failure to redeem various promises made during the campaign two years ago, particularly the promise to remove the union-busting provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act."

The resolution urged AFL unions to make sure their members are registered and go to the polls in this fall's congressional election, "to assist the candidates committed to the support of labor's objectives."

T-H Changes

Another resolution urged congress to change the Taft-Hartley Act to eliminate a provision which now permits states to prohibit union shop contracts. Under the union shop all workers must be union members. A hike in the present 75-cent-an-hour statutory minimum wage to $1.25 was also urged.

The convention was also due to adopt a plan for settling jurisdictional disputes between rival AFL unions by submitting them to arbitration if they cannot be settled through negotiations.

Eastridge Property Owners Say Undeveloped Area Only For Homes

Only objection of property owners in the Eastridge addition to the location there of the new Catholic High School is that they bought homes in the area with the understanding that undeveloped areas would be used strictly for residential purposes.

Attorneys C. Russell Mattison and Donald R. Kandler, representing the opponents to the location of the high school in Eastridge, and John R. Doyle, Lincoln Diocesan attorney, issued a joint statement Thursday after their meeting Wednesday evening which stated the prime objection.

Although the exact boundaries of the school site have not been surveyed, St. Pius X Central Catholic High School is proposed to be located at Eldon Drive and Randolph in the Eastridge addition.

The three attorneys stated, "As a result of the meeting, efforts are now being made to effect a solution satisfactory to all the parties concerned."

Future meetings between the interested parties are being planned.

Border Warning

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — The U. S. Army, concerned about border incidents involving its troops, has ordered signs erected along the Iron Curtain to warn soldiers they are near Communist territory. The border is poorly defined in many areas.

A headquarters spokesman said there has been no word yet as to when Communist Czechoslovakia may release two soldiers captured by its border guards last Friday. The captives are 1st Lt. Richard H. Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y., and Pfc. George Pisk of Austin, Tex.

Msgr. Riordan Council Speaker

Msgr. C. J. Riordan was speaker at a meeting of board members and directors-at-large of the Council of Catholic Women Thursday at the Cornhusker Hotel. Twelve deaneries were represented.

On the program were these work shops: "Family Life," led by Mrs. Maurice Clark of McCool; "Study Clubs," Mrs. John T. Rose of Auburn, and "Parliamentary Law," Mrs. R. T. Malone of Lincoln.

There Are Alternatives

Nothing could illustrate better how man's best-laid plans frequently go astray than the understandable furore created by split school sessions at the Merle Beattie School in Lincoln. As originally planned, it appeared to the Lincoln Board of Education that ample provision had been made in the school's facilities to handle all the youngsters who could be expected to enroll. There were 85 children in the area to be served by the school when the preliminary study of schools needs was made, Board Member Elmer Magee told a meeting of parents last Tuesday night. When the school construction had been completed, actual enrollment was 205. Surprisingly this fall the growth of the residential section served by the school saw an enrollment of 370. Hence the program of split sessions, a program admittedly not satisfactory but on a temporary basis unavoidable.

Fortunately there seems to be alternatives. These alternatives involve purchase or rental of homes for emergency schools, rezoning of the district to permit children to attend either less crowded Saratoga or Prescott, or bus transportation to other less crowded schools.

The important thing, it seems to us, is that Dr. John P. Senning and Elmer Magee, both members of the Lincoln Board of Education, took time out to talk over affairs with the parents of the children facing a split school schedule. Usually an answer to any problem can be found if those representing conflicting viewpoints take the time and trouble to talk things over.

Nevada Sets The Pattern

Fort Union sleeps in ruins some miles out on a semi-arid plain not far from Las Vegas, Nev. Not even a road leads to it now for its crumbling walls and its overgrown parade ground lies in pasture land of one of the West's great ranches.

But Fort Union once was a busy, vital place. Established in 1861 it was an important stronghold throughout the War Between The States. Afterward it was a bulwark that protected white settlers and presided over the peace of the plains at a time when many of the region's presently thriving communities were born.

Nevadans are young in terms of statehood compared to Nebraska. But they have a compelling sense of history. They have not forgotten Fort Union. They were determined that it should not disappear. It was a part of the state's early history. They knew that once gone it could never be replaced.

Nevada went to bat for its crumbling old fort. Now it has triumphed. Fort Union has been named a national monument. Its restoration will be begun.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

"Keeping up with the Joneses" — either in terms of family living or in the realm of state government—can be expensive and on occasions no end difficult. There is the real story of state government in these postwar years when after a period of marking time, the peoples of each of the 48 states discovered that there is so much to do in order to catch up with neglected tasks and actually so little money with which to do it.

Now and then we are reminded how fortunate we are here in Nebraska. Recently the Nebraska Citizens Council published a study showing the kinds and amounts of taxes paid in seven midwestern states including Nebraska and its nearby neighbors—Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Wyoming, South Dakota, and Minnesota. It was reassuring, at least on first glance, to be told that Nebraska's total per capita tax of $125.05 was by far the lowest. South Dakota with still fewer people than Nebraska was second low with $143.17. And Iowa, with a larger population than Nebraska, was the highest in per capita tax burden with $163.99. Now, digging below the surface, there are a number of conclusions to be drawn from the bare figures. It can be said that in the full spirit of frugality, Nebraska's state government is the most economical and efficient. It can be said that Nebraska purchases the distinction of the lowest per capita tax burden by ignoring things which spell progress, by neglecting to do what needs to be done. It can be charged that Nebraska's gratifying tax record actually is proof that year after year we are falling further and further behind in such matters as modern highway construction, educational development, institutional progress in the care of a state's unfortunate, and finally in many other fields of modern development. It is not simply a matter of how much or how little we spend, but the extent and the degree to which the people of Nebraska move forward in this era of modern living. Of the states listed, only South Dakota and Wyoming are confronted with the same limited income opportunities that Nebraskans face. It is doubtful if Wyoming, with its oil and other sources of mineral wealth, operates on the same narrow limitation.

We are quite sure that large numbers of Nebraskans feel deeply that the ceiling has been reached when it comes to taxation. It is not merely the impressive needs of the federal government, needs which mounted astronomically in the war years and have continued since. Requirements of state and local governments since 1946 have mounted and mounted until the costs of state government in the 48 states of the Union and of local government doubled and trebled in many instances.

It has been very much to the credit of the people of Nebraska that in the last eight years, at sacrifice to themselves they have made adequate revenues available to take care of a lot of unfinished business. The building program at state institutions and at educational plants—the provision for improved services—a more generous highway program—all of this has been in line with pressing needs and can be a source of great satisfaction to the courage and determination of the people who made it possible. We have moved forward, not as spectacularly perhaps as some of our neighbors, but nevertheless in this last 15 years Nebraska has made more advance along sound lines than in any comparative period previously. And that is the importance of high volumes of business, industry, and most of all, a healthy, prosperous agriculture. Because we of all these seven states look more directly to agriculture than any of the others, unless it be South Dakota, we must bend every energy to maintaining a high level of prosperity out on the farms.

There is no magic in tax economies or in more generous provisions for necessary things to be done. Usually we pay for what we get. If we pull the pursestrings too tight, then it should be recognized that the rigid economy which we demand is at the sacrifice of development which is sound and good, development which we crave but which we say is far too rich for our blood. It is not merely a matter of "keeping up with the Joneses." More accurately, it is a question of developing the kind of state in which people desire to live.

Nothing could illustrate better how man's best-laid plans frequently go astray than the understandable furore created by split school sessions at the Merle Beattie School in Lincoln. As originally planned, it appeared to the Lincoln Board of Education that ample provision had been made in the school's facilities to handle all the youngsters who could be expected to enroll. There were 85 children in the area to be served by the school when the preliminary study of schools needs was made, Board Member Elmer Magee told a meeting of parents last Tuesday night. When the school construction had been completed, actual enrollment was 205. Surprisingly this fall the growth of the residential section served by the school saw an enrollment of 370. Hence the program of split sessions, a program admittedly not satisfactory but on a temporary basis unavoidable.

Fortunately there seems to be alternatives. These alternatives involve purchase or rental of homes for emergency schools, rezoning of the district to permit children to attend either less crowded Saratoga or Prescott, or bus transportation to other less crowded schools.

The important thing, it seems to us, is that Dr. John P. Senning and Elmer Magee, both members of the Lincoln Board of Education, took time out to talk over affairs with the parents of the children facing a split school schedule.

Usually an answer to any problem can be found if those representing conflicting viewpoints take the time and trouble to talk things over.

State Politicians On Federal Payroll

WASHINGTON — Sen. Pat McCarran, the venerable Republican from Nevada, is one of the most blase men in the Senate. He also likes to see politics operate on a self-financing basis. To accomplish this he has a happy faculty for putting state politicians on the federal payroll even though they are doing almost nothing for Uncle Sam, just as long as they are doing something for him in Nevada.

Take the case of Gov. Charles H. Russell of Nevada, now running for re-election. Probably few Nevadans know it, but McCarran kept Russell on the federal payroll while he was running for governor last time and right up until after he was nominated.

What happened was that McCarran at first encouraged ex-Governor Vail Pittman to run again for governor, then double-crossed him and backed Russell. He followed this up by putting Russell on the Senate ECA watchdog committee, which just happens to be the only committee whose vouchers are not audited by the general accounting office, a little loophole arranged by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire when he was chairman of the committee during the 80th Congress. This loophole, incidentally, permitted Bridges to send ex-Sen. Worth Clark of Idaho on a trip to the Orient to report on aid for Chiang Kai-shek without an OK from either Congress or the State Department.

In any case, McCarran happily took advantage of the loophole and paid Russell $860.85 per month as a so-called committee consultant during the same time he was running for governor.

Russell remained there until June 30, 1950, though nominated for governor on June 1, 1950.

On Dec. 13, 1950—well after Russell's election—he was still drawing expenses, though the vouchers claimed these expenses covered his earlier service with the committee. Since the general accounting office could not audit the vouchers, taxpayers will have to take McCarran's word for it. He signed the vouchers.

JUNKET TO SWITZERLAND

The vouchers themselves show up a couple interesting items. For example, Russell took a junket at committee expense to Switzerland during the tourist season at the Alpine resorts. This might have been considered committee business, except that the only purpose of the committee was to oversee the Marshall Plan. And Switzerland was the only country in Western Europe that flatly refused to participate in the Marshall Plan.

Another interesting item on Russell's expense account is air transportation to Reno and rental of an automobile during the March 21-April 24, 1950, period. This happens to be about the same time that Russell was campaigning for the gubernatorial nomination.

During this period, Russell collected his full Senate salary, plus an additional $315 for 35 days of personal expenses, plus $150 for renting an automobile for "official business," plus the air transportation home.

CORRECTION *

Former Vice President Henry Wallace is probably still puzzling over last Tuesday's column. Probably readers are puzzled too. The column, which referred to Eisenhower's efforts to study the problem of Oakies, Arkies and migrant workers, contained this sentence: "Wallace was one of the few government officials who ever tried to migrate across the U.S."

Frankly I was thunderstruck when I saw this line in print. So probably was the Wallace family. The ex-president, ex-secretary of agriculture did move from Des Moines, Iowa, to Washington to join the Roosevelt cabinet and now lives on a farm north of New York City. But he certainly did not migrate across the United States in the usual sense of the word, and he certainly was no migrant farm hand.

So I looked up the column as I originally wrote it. It read: "Wallace was one of the few government officials who ever tried to do much about the Oakies, Arkies and itinerant farm hands who migrate across the U.S." What happened was that the teletype operator skipped one line. My apologies.

MARQUIS CHILDS

French Premier Invokes Realism

(Editor's note: While Mr. Childs was in Europe, he obtained first hand material for the following article on the strongest man to appear on the French political horizon in recent years.)

The premier and deputy premier of France have their offices in the Hotel Matignon, a handsome eighteenth century building that fronts directly on the street and in the rear looks out on a private park and garden. An impressive entrance on the street gives onto a gravelled courtyard. The rooms with their high ceilings are filled with portraits of the great kings and courtiers of the days of glory when France was carving out an empire.

In this atmosphere of carefully tended grandeur Pierre Mendes-France looks singularly out of place. It is just this parade of past glories—the dream of an age long gone—that the 47-year-old premier has put aside. He is practical, quiet-spoken, intensely hard working with very little bombast or show about him. And no one would accuse him of looking even faintly like the be-wigged and beribboned courtiers whose portraits look down from the corridors of the Matignon.

Mendes-France is plain almost to the point of ugliness, his conspicuous feature being his eyes with their intense black depth. He wears suits of hard finished worsted that seem to have the practical, resistant quality of the man. While he appears to be preoccupied, there is little or nothing that escapes his attention.

The drama of the man is in action, the kind of action that France has seen in the past eight weeks after so many years of delay and vacillation. By flying to Tunisia and meeting the Bey of Tunis face to face the premier dramatized the need to alter at once the relationship between the colony and the mother country.

To say that he abjures the grandeur of the past does not mean that he is any the less a patriot. It is on the subject of patriotism that he now and then becomes emotional. But his deep-seated conviction is that patriotism without realism is a delusion which can have fatal consequences.

This is the delusion from which, in the new premier's view, France has been suffering for a very long time.

As a thinker, an intellectual, Mendes-France shares one of the great French traditions. This is the tradition of the men of reason of the eighteenth century, the encyclopedists and philosophers who helped develop the framework of freedom out of which came the American Declaration of Independence. Mendes-France's background is secular and intellectual.

Born and brought up in Paris, he went through the rigid French educational system that exacts so much in concentration and memory work and came out with high honors. On the political ladder Mendes-France began a steady climb. He became the youngest deputy in the French assembly and then, a little later, mayor of Louviers. He likes to say that the last is his favorite job since he can see improvements in streets, sewers and other facilities that as mayor he helped to bring about. All that talk in the assembly, he has sometimes said ruefully, means nothing but more talk.

In Leon Blum's last popular front government in 1938 Mendes-France became undersecretary of finance. That, too, was a time of indecision when the governments of the Western powers seemed unable or unwilling to take the steps that might have averted the oncoming war.

It is partly because of his participation in this government with Communists and Socialists that the present premier is sometimes accused of being a neutralist.

* * *

As a member of the French Air force reserve, he was captured and imprisoned after the defeat of 1940. Escaping through Spain, he reached England and joined the Free French air force as navigator in a bomber squadron.

In 1943 Gen. DeGaulle summoned him to North Africa where he became commissioner for finance in DeGaulle's provisional government.

In this capacity he worked closely with many exiled Frenchmen who were later to become premiers and foreign ministers.

But after his disillusion as minister of national economy under DeGaulle in Paris he stayed out of the parade of increasingly ineffectual governments.

It was not that he was entirely out of government since he was called on to represent France with the International Monetary Fund at many conferences. And in the assembly his speeches became more and more noted for their stern realism.

Here was a kind of youthful looking Jeremiah saying that France could not go on fighting an endless war in Indo-China and at the same time build up military strength in Europe which would give the French confidence that they could stand up to Germany within the European Defense Community.

That was the theme of the speech he made in June of 1953 when he tried to form a government. Above all, he said, France must choose.

Government itself, he told the Assembly, was a process of choice.

France would have to cut the pattern of hand to fit the means of hand. The day of the great delusion of a world power with unlimited resources was at an end.

He failed on that occasion but the same theme, with the urgency far greater, carried him into the premiership a year later.

It was a kind of politics on their part, but what a howl they put up when someone gave a government employee a minuscule cost.

Before, the Republicans claimed to be the constitutional party. Since the election, they have scrapped the Constitution so far as they are concerned when it interferes with their policy of favoring the large corporations.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Crickets By Other Names Chirp As Loud

The wheat and the chaff are closely akin, and the bitter goes along with the sweet . . .

There's been a bumper fruit crop in Hooper this year, writes Mrs. Morris Payne of the Sentinel, and also a bumper crop of grasshoppers and crickets, while the hoppers dine on her finest zinnias, the crickets perch at the front door, ready to hop in and make a meal on almost anything at hand.

Bill Greenlee of Oshkosh believes it's the damp weather that accounts for so many crickets.

Their after-dark anthem—which, incidentally, keeps the Garden County News editor awake—could be any of a number of things, he says.

Those in the bug know-how think it is a mating call. Others regard it as a battle challenge, and still others maintain it is merely a means of expression. Anyway, they're hard to catch, according to Mr. Greenlee. They chirp the loudest when it's dark, but turn on the light and the noise stops.

And as soon as you're nicely settled in bed again, they really whoop it up.

* * *

Edward Curran's sleep is interrupted from time to time, also, but the sound effects filling Greene's night air are not those of crickets.

It has been estimated that there are about 10 million dogs in this country. "After listening to a barrage of barking the other night," Mr. Curran writes in the Citizen, "we readily agree with the estimate."

Nebraska City is feeling some slight repercussion already from an action taken by Plattsburgh's city council, an action which may be the precedent for similar discussion in other towns. Seems the official dog catcher in Cass County frequently gets his clothes soiled, especially when he lopes off in pursuit of a large-footed bound.

Around Schuyler this may be translated to mean the Federation of Free Loaders, and the latest contribution to this worthy and hard-working group came from Harvey Schmidt in the form of a 63-pound watermelon.

"Picture the gang working on that one!" drools the Call. "And it tasted just as good as you think it did on a warm Tuesday."

15-Hour Revolt At Missouri Prison Quelled; 4 Dead, Many Hurt

7 BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY CURSING CONVICTS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The most disastrous riot in its history was brought under control Thursday at the fire-blackened Missouri State Penitentiary.

Four prisoners were killed and 30 other prisoners and three guards were injured in a savage 15-hour revolt led by a small group of incorrigible prisoners.

Seven prison buildings were destroyed and three others damaged as the cursing, shouting convicts set out on a path of destruction.

Preliminary estimates of the damage by prison officials ranged from three to five million dollars.

Prompt mobilization of state highway troopers, policemen from neighboring cities and Missouri National Guardsmen was credited with breaking the back of the riot and preventing a wholesale break by many of the 3,285 inmates.

Only about 300 prisoners were actually involved in the abortive break for freedom.

Convicts gave many reasons for the abrupt uprising, but a guard said he believed it stemmed from dissatisfaction with green water-melon served at supper Wednesday night. Other convicts said the cause was poor food generally.

Whatever the reason, the trouble began about 6 p.m. in the maximum security hall. Within a matter of minutes 81 convicts seized four guards and the disturbance flared into the prison yard.

The outbreak began when several of the more troublesome prisoners on the third floor of E hall jumped several guards through a ruse, faking illness, took their keys and began to liberate the other prisoners.

Then began a rush to seize other guards, take their keys and free other convicts.

Within half an hour from 500 to 600 convicts were out in the prison yard—a surging, howling mob, murder-bent.

It was then that 50 troopers under command of an ex-Marine, Lt. H. D. Brigham, went into action.

Brigham ordered the prisoners to move back. But they stood their ground, hurled insults and threw rocks and bricks. The officer then ordered the submachinegun armed troopers to fire.

The convict mob broke and ran, leaving their dead and wounded.

Col. Thomas P. Whitecotton, director of corrections and Warden Ralph Edson said the action broke the back of the riot.

Had it not been for the quick action of the troops, Warden Edson said, the convicts might have broken through the main administration building to freedom.

Within the next few hours, fires in the prison buildings raged out of control. Singly and in pairs prisoners came from the hiding places, some with white handkerchiefs. But about 500 inmates of B and C halls continued throwing rocks, taunting the troopers and wrecking their cells.

Throughout the night more police and National Guard reinforcements arrived, putting a ring of steel and firepower around the prison and apparently preventing an attempt to flee by going over the walls.

Then at 7 a.m. the highway troopers moved in again, this time to subdue the rest of the rebellious convicts.

Kansas (Correct) Gets State Wheat

Another Oddity—Storage Is Plentiful

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

A modern, Midwestern story of "carrying coals to Newcastle" has resulted from poor wheat-growing conditions in western states.

In this case, it is Nebraska that is shipping wheat into milling centers in Kansas. Kansas, traditionally titled, "The Wheat State," simply was not able to produce enough of the high-protein wheat demanded by millers to meet demand this year.

This was revealed Thursday by Jim Lemley of the commodity section of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. The situation, Lemley said, is very unusual.

"Poor growing conditions this year resulted in most of the high-protein wheat production to be centered in an eight-county area in the lower Nebraska Panhandle and in a few counties of adjoining Colorado. Lemley said the Kansas milling centers have purchased quite a large quantity of Nebraska wheat."

"Another unusual feature of the western wheat situation is the plentiful supply of wheat storage space existing in southern Panhandle counties at the present time," Thursday, W. W. Fuller, president of the Central States Grain Co., Inc., said. There is too much grain storage space in western Nebraska and western Kansas. This complaint came in the face of earlier complaints of lack of storage space.

"But we have never been successful in filling it," he said, adding similar situation exists at

Fertilizer Use Is Up Sharply

36 Per Cent Boost Noted In Nebraska

Along with the skyrocketing increase in the use of irrigation wells in Nebraska has come a corresponding sharp rise in the practice of applying commercial fertilizer to depleted cropland.

According to a report released by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture and Inspection, Nebraska farmers used 36 per cent more commercial fertilizer during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, than they did in the previous year. The report by the department was based on compilations of fertilizer sales in this state.

Nebraska used about 144,000 tons of commercial fertilizer last year. A 36 per cent increase over this figure would be about 197,000 tons. In 1950, the Department reported 46,000 tons of fertilizer used in Nebraska. Ten years before, it was 2,500 tons.

The 1953 report of the Department shows that of the 144,000 tons of fertilizer used, 69,500 tons consisted of straight nitrogen goods, 16,600 tons of superphosphate and metaphosphate, 55,400 tons of mixed fertilizers of all kinds, and about 2,500 tons of organic fertilizers, rock phosphate, and miscellaneous materials.

GOP Won't Get 'Push Button' Nebraska Election, Green Says

SUTHERLAND, Neb. (AP)—James F. Green, Democratic Senate candidate, said here Wednesday night that Nebraska Republicans will be bitterly disappointed if they expect "a push-button election."

Green, one of a group of Democratic candidates for state and national offices appearing at a know-your-candidate rally sponsored by the Sutherland Lions Club, declared Nebraska people are "thoroughly independent" and resent being pushed around by Republicans "who now consider it so necessary to woo the eastern industrial states."

Keith Neville, another Democrat Senate candidate, said he would "support President Eisenhower 100 per cent whenever Eisenhower decides to keep his pre-election promises to the farmers."

William Ritchie, candidate for governor, assailed the record of Victor Anderson, Republican candidate for governor, when Anderson was a member of the Legislature.

The Democrats' candidate for the short-term Senate post, William Meier, questioned what he said was his opponent's spending in the primary of "approximately

Footprints Found At 'Saucer' Scene

COLDWATER, Kan. (INS) — Twelve-year-old John Jacob Swaim of Coldwater, maintained Thursday he saw a strange looking little man who climbed into a flying saucer and flew away from a field.

The boy told his story as follows: "I was on the tractor disking. Suddenly I saw him, about 20 feet away. He stood right there, a little fellow about the size of a 5-year-old child."

"He had long, pointed ears and a pointed nose. He was sort of crouching, looking at me, then he ran—or maybe flew—to the saucer and took off."

"I hadn't seen the saucer until then. It was halfway hidden by a terrace over there. It was hanging about five feet from the ground. The little man jumped in a door and the saucer took off."

"It went awfully fast—so fast that compared to it a jet would seem like a turtle."

The boy's father John Swaim said he questioned the boy closely and then called Sheriff Floyd Hadley. Hadley advised the family to stay away from the scene until morning.

Nebraska Cityan, 85, Claims Bicycle-Riding Championship

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. — A simple, relaxed and economical means of around-town transportation has a lasting devotee in a Nebraska City businessman who probably ranks as the champion long-time bicycle rider in this state.

The bicyclist is Frank Fields, who at 85, still pedals regularly between his home and his insurance and real estate office in downtown Nebraska City, a distance of 11 blocks. Alert and cheerful, Fields is rounding out about 70 years of pedal-and-handiebar transportation.

Whether any other Nebraskan can come forward and lay claim to a longer period of bicycling appears doubtful, but at any rate, Fields has become something of an authority on the evolution of the bicycle.

It seems, for instance, that the bicycle as it is designed today—with both wheels equal in size—was not always called a bicycle. That term was reserved for the old high-wheelers, circa Gay Nineties.

When the equal-size wheelers came along, Fields related, they were referred to as "safeties," presumably because of reduced hazard to life and limb to those riding nearer the ground. Fields was an advocate of the "safeties" from the beginning, and once advised a friend to buy that model instead of a high-wheeler "because then he could ride right up a cow path and not fall off."

Fields learned to ride on a high-wheeler, and the first bike he owned was a Columbia which sold for $150. "Since then," he said, "bicycles have become better and cheaper both."

Fields presently pilots a red, balloon-tired model with downswung handlebars. He keeps each of his bicycles about eight years.

The reasons Fields gives for continuing to travel by bicycle are that he feels good riding a bike, it is an easy way of "going back and forth," and it is inexpensive.

Asked what he thinks of automobiles, Fields said, "I have had them."

Mrs. Martha Seng Rites Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Miller Seng, 89, 2337 No. 49th, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Roper & Sons, the Rev. W. E. King officiating.

Mrs. Seng, who died Thursday, had lived in Lincoln since 1914. Born in Davis, Ill., she came here from Clatonia, Neb.

She was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

Surviving are her husband, William H. sons, Edwin of Lincoln and Dr. Omer of Alliance, and four grandchildren.

Burial will be in Wyuka.

VALPARAISO, Chile (UPI)—Shipping men abandoned hope Thursday for the Argentine freighter San Martin, which vanished in the Strait of Magellan 12 days ago with her crew of 54 and 10,000 tons of wheat.

Merchant Marine Headquarters speculated that the cargo shifted and the San Martin sank in a rough stretch of the strait off Rapper lighthouse. Searchers have found some life preservers.

Easier To Stay Alive Here, FBI Reports

You can take a deep breath and live easier in Lincoln, according to the FBI, which reported no deaths due to murder or non-negligent manslaughter for the first six months of the year.

According to the Uniform Crime Reports Bulletin, Lincoln is 1.8 below the national average for these two types of crimes in its population bracket. The state presently has a murder rate of .9 for every 100,000 citizens.

Other states compared show Kansas with 2, Colorado 1.9, and Wyoming .9 for the period per 100,000 population. South Dakota boasted no murders for the period.

Aggravated assaults in the city went up from nine to 11, larceny-theft cases increased from 581 to 632, but robberies declined to two less than in 1953 June, and burglaries decreased from 95 to 67. State figures included 26 cities. Based on the percentage per 100,000 population, Nebraska had 11.6 robberies, 10.7 aggravated assaults, 115.4 burglaries, 496.3 larceny thefts, and 72 auto thefts.

Seven Polish Seamen Stage Mutiny, Sail To Britain

...Sailors Ask Political Asylum

BY TOM OCHILTREE

WHITBY, England (UPI) — Seven Polish seamen told British police Thursday they staged "freedom mutiny" on their trawler. They beat up the political officer, locked up the captain and other crewmen, and sailed to this Yorkshire port to ask political asylum.

It was the third time in less than a week that seamen from Communist-governed Poland have sought asylum in Britain.

Authorities here who boarded the trawler, the 200-ton Puszczek, found the skipper, Capt. Kobienski, locked in the lavatory and seven other crew members in cabins. All were released.

One man, identified by the mutineers as political officer Naciszek Franciszek, had suffered knife wounds on the hand and head and face injuries when the seven took over in the North Sea, police said. He was treated at a hospital here and then returned to the trawler.

As the Polish vessel approached the Yorkshire coast, crews of British trawlers noticed it was flying several weird signals. Capt. James J. Storr, 52, commanding the Whitby fishing ship Provider, guessed the Puszczek was in distress, went aboard, and piloted the craft into the harbor.

"I clambered aboard and one German-speaking seaman ushered me up to the wheelhouse and kept repeating 'harbor,'" Storr said.

"The men were very friendly and kept offering me cigarettes."

"As we came to the harbor, I gathered the seven men I could see on deck intended to seek political asylum. As soon as we came alongside the quay I notified the harbormaster. The seven men were affable enough and seemed happy to be coming ashore."

"Rebelled!"

Storr said the men complained in German about their living and working conditions.

"I understand the political officer signed on as an ordinary seaman before the vessel left Poland," Storr said. "It was not until the trawler was at sea that the men realized this and rebelled against it."

Police here questioned the seven, who freely explained what they had done. They said that, acting under their first mate, they quickly seized control of the trawler as it was lurching through the sea. They kept the officers and other seamen who refused to join them confined below decks for 12 hours, giving the skipper two cigarettes during this time.

The trawler's home port is Swinoujcie (Swinemuende), Poland. It has been fishing in the North Sea with a Polish trawler fleet.

British has granted political asylum to nearly a score of Polish seamen in recent years.

Critical Situation Predicted If Colorado Gets Light Snow

DENVER — (INS) — Coloradans may have to choose between water for irrigation and water for drinking unless the drought is broken by heavy precipitation in late winter and early spring.

The picture is bleak. Weather Bureau records show precipitation for Colorado has been 84 per cent of normal beginning Jan. 1, 1951 through Aug. 1954, but with an overall decline for the period.

In 1951 precipitation totaled 16.39 inches, or 99 per cent of normal. For 1952, the total was 13.30 inches or about 80 per cent of normal and in 1953 the state had 14.5 inches or 86 per cent of normal.

Through August this year, precipitation totaled 8.01 inches for only 66 per cent of normal, and dry weather is expected through December.

Below Normal
The Weather Bureau predicts a warm, dry October.

The Water Resources Development Corp., of Denver, headed by Dr. Irving P. Krick predicts below normal precipitation for October, normal to above for November and below normal for December.

Even "normal" rain or snowfall through December would not provide major relief but merely aid in "holding the line."

Normal precipitation for Colorado in October totals about one inch. In November it is ½ to ¾ of an inch and the same for December.

Early warm temperatures for the past two years brought heavy melting and runoff from the snowpack in the mountain watersheds, causing a heavy drain on storage water for irrigation and municipal use.

"Serious"
Denver had 88,000 acre feet of water in storage annually. This year the total will be 50,000 acre feet.

Denver water board secretary Earl Moseley said: "The situation is serious. Unless we get heavy snows this winter it will be critical."

State Engineer Charles C. Hennighausen said water supplies in

Geis Posts Appeal Bond

OMAHA (AP)—John Gies, 30, Lincoln, has posted a $500 appeal bond in County Court here from a 15 day jail sentence and a three month suspension of his driver's license imposed by Judge Robert Troyer Wednesday. Gies was charged with driving 70 miles an hour on West Dodge.

Last April 22, Gies was before Judge Troyer and was fined $300 and costs for not having a driver's license and no registration plates for his truck. At the time the judge said Gies' record showed 31 previous traffic violations and fines of $1,194.

The same night, Gies was picked up twice by the Safety Patrol, once in the Omaha area and once in the Lincoln area on speeding charges. On the charge filed here he was fined $10 and his license to drive suspended for two months. He appealed the sentences imposed by Judge Troyer, these still standing.

Consulate Remains

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said the U.S. consulate will remain open in Hanoi indefinitely after the Communists take over Oct. 10 under the Indo-China truce agreement. Department press officer Henry Suydam told his news conference the consulate is accredited to the state of Viet Nam. The Viet Nam government is still the government in charge of the country, he emphasized.

eastern Colorado are at or below 1934 record drought levels.

He reported the Arkansas River practically dry east of Pueblo and reservoirs either dry or very low.

Moseley said Denver's regular sources are supplying only about 20 per cent of normal needs.

Republicans In N.Y. Name Ives

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Republican state convention Thursday unanimously nominated U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives for governor to oppose Democrat Averell Harriman and named three other candidates for the GOP state ticket after days of leadership wrangling.

A deadlock of the last of Ives' running mates was broken when party leaders agreed on Frank Del Vecchio of Syracuse as their candidate for state comptroller.

Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern was designated for lieutenant governor and Rep. Jacob K. Javits of Manhattan, for attorney general. All the nominations were by acclamation.

Surviving are his wife, Myrtle, sons, Sgt. Bill, in Germany, Capt. Frank, in France, and George, Joe and Thomas, all of Oakland, Calif.; daughters, Jane Crews of Seattle, Wash., Lotta Butler of Oakland, Calif., and Emma Butler of Lincoln; 10 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Burial will be in Fairview.

Nevada's six-week divorce law is not as profitable to "The Biggest Little City" as the orange blossom trail.

Five times as many people get married in Reno as get divorced. Both rebounds and new customers.

Marriage is so popular in the Washoe Valley that hotels offer a package price splicing: Minister, flowers, wed-ding supper and breakfast and the bridal suite.

"How much?" I asked Mr. Walter Ramage, the Mapes innkeeper.

"For how long?" he said.

"How long a marriage?" I said.

"What kind of deal is that?"

"Oh," said Mr. Ramage, "I thought you were getting married. I meant how long are you going to be here. I could give you a very attractive rate."

"Speak impersonally, please," I said. "This is for publication."

"In that case," said Mr. Ramage, "we offer a lovely ceremony for two with witnesses. A high type preacher, flowers, champagne supper and the bridal suite for $50. You could lose that much on the tables in half an hour."

* * *

Reno's 20,000 marriages a year (vs. 4,000 divorces) makes the justice of peace election more exciting than the governor's Marriages pay off better than slot machines.

The incumbent is Judge Laurence Leyman who hardly hears one "I do" before he begins the next "Dear Beloved."

Florists profit by love in bloom.

So do restaurants and hotels and champagne salesmen.

The divorce business, lasting six weeks a smash, booms right along.

Just as it has since Mary Pickford brought it to national attention in 1916 when she did her six weeks at Minden.

"It depends on which two you are issued. My two are pretty bad."

The home talent boys have been well picked over by the talent of other years. And what are left are desert rat prospectors or confirmed bachelors.

However, there are enough exceptions to make the odds attractive.

Reno's most eligible bachelor, millionaire Charlie Mapes, seems to be edging a package ceremony with Bobo Rockefeller, most recent of the famed divorcees.

That would give Reno a considerable shot in the arm. For a girl to walk off with a $5,000,000 Rockefeller settlement and a new glass slipper makes Cinderella penny ante.

Kiwani Club sponsoring Kids' Day, said all school children through high school age are invited to attend. Children under 10 must be accompanied by one of their parents.

Lt. Col. Robert K. Simeral, LAFB project officer, said the base tour will be highlighted by an air show, aircraft exhibits, and firefighting demonstrations.

The first bus pickup of kids will be made at 12th and U streets at 12:30 p.m. Buses will leave from that intersection to transport the children to the base on an hourly schedule throughout the afternoon.

To Attend Meeting

A group of members of the Lincoln Credit Women's Breakfast Club will go to Ft. Dodge, Ia., on Saturday and Sunday to attend courtesies honoring Miss Marjorie Girton of Des Moines, Ia., president of the Credit Women's sixth district, and other district officers.

An informal get-together will be held Saturday evening at the Hotel Warden, followed by a brunch on Sunday morning.

Included among those going from Lincoln are Miss Virginia Kenyon, state Credit Women's Club president; Miss Thelma Applebee, state vice president; Mrs. Virginia McGrail, vice president of the Lincoln club; Mrs. Nelle Hudkins, Mrs. Bell Keitges and Mrs. Max Meyer.

Install New Wayne Club

Going to Wayne on Thursday was Miss Gwendoline E. Birky of Lincoln, first vice president of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who presented the charter to the newly-organized Wayne B. PW Club at a banquet, Thursday evening, at the Hotel Morrison.

Miss Birky was accompanied by Miss Nelle Gingles of Lincoln, who was the banquet speaker, and presiding at the installation of the club's officers was Miss Marie Blazek of Omaha, director of the federation's district III.

Officers of the Wayne club are Luella M. Marra, president; Shirley Maben, vice president; Lavern Pospisil, recording secretary; and Myrtle I. Anderson, treasurer.

NEWS, FUTURE TENSE

THE NEWS we have this morning for the most part involves that all-important week-end of Oct. 2—and the game with Iowa State at the Nebraska stadium. We found, on a trek through the town, that there are many plans for parties before the game—and after—and that there are to be numerous out-of-town guests.

ONE OF the pre-game affairs will be an 11:30 o'clock luncheon for which Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean will be host

Mothersingers Entertained

Thirty-five members of the Lincoln PTA Mothersingers met for a 9:30 o'clock coffee Thursday morning at Antelope Park, after which the group went to the Board of Education for the first rehearsal of the season.

The Mothersingers' president, Mrs. J. E. Gable, introduced Mrs. Eldon B. Hitz, who will serve as accompanist for the group; Mrs. R. A. Mace, music director; and Mrs. William McDermet, president of the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers.

and hostess when they entertain a small group of guests at their home.

AND another of the before-the-game affairs has been planned by Mr. and Mrs. M. Duncan Sowles who have invited 60 guests for an 11:30 o'clock luncheon at their home.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Roberts of Omaha will be in town for the Iowa State-Nebraska game, and that they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ned Cadwallader in a no-host dinner group at the Lincoln Country club's post-game dinner dance.

The group will be completed with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hale, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver, and Dr. and Mrs. Roland Mueller.

IN an eightsome group at the LCC on Saturday evening, Oct. 2 will be Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Deane, their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hayter of Sioux Falls, S. D.; and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hanson and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt of Sioux City, Ia.

BUT we hear there also is to be a fun party on Friday evening—Oct. 1—when Mr. and Mrs. James Carrier will be host and hostess at a 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock party at their brand new home, 377 So. 40th St.

SPEAKING of parties—we certainly did well on one we mentioned Thursday morning—In fact, with the exception of having the wrong morning and a wrong hostess, the story was practically perfect.

Anyway—the coffee for which Mrs. Walter W. White, Mrs. Willard M. Folsom and Miss Mary Whitmore are to be hostesses in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Snooky Coryell.

will be on Saturday morning—not on Friday morning.

At least we gave the right place—the party is to be at the home of Mrs. Folsom—but 'scuse, please.

SOMEONE told us that Mrs. Samuel Avery and Mrs. J. E. Taylor had just returned from a trip to the east coast—The travelers went first to Washington, D. C., where they visited Mr. Taylor's son—and after Washington came New York City and several days in Connecticut.

September Ceremony

The First Christian Church at Minden was appointed with lighted cathedral candles and pedestal arrangements of gladioli and chrysanthemums in shades of orchid and purple for the marriage of Miss Maurine Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Nelson, and Warren Eckloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eckloff, all of Minden, on Friday, Sept. 3. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening by the Rev. Edick Anderson.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Herman Bjorklund, organist, and Mrs. Belva Tack accompanied Miss Carol Jean Armstrong, the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Merna Rewerts of Hastings, as her sister's matron of honor, and Mrs. Lois Patterson of Idaho Falls, Ida., sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, wore alike frocks of royal purple taffeta fashioned with fitted basques and full overskirts of net. Costumed identically in taffeta and net shading from pastel orchid through the deeper lilac tones were Miss Carol Lynn Nelson of Elcamo, Tex., and Miss Linda Patterson of Idaho Falls, who lighted the candles, and the flower girls, Miss Judith Ann Rewerts, Miss Jane Wilkinson, Miss Marian Rewerts and Miss Carol Eckloff. All the attendants carried taffeta circlets clustered with tiny orchids and Fuji chrysanthemums.

A reception for 300 guests was held in the parlors of the church, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip.

A graduate of the University of Denver, the bride is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Mr. Eckloff attended the University of Nebraska.

The Brides' Book

The marriage of Miss Carolyn Jean Wood and Kenneth Rater, whose engagement was announced recently, will take place at 8:30 o'clock, Sunday evening, Oct. 3, and will be solemnized at Bethany Christian Church.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to the bride-to-be, Mrs. Donald Dugan and Mrs. Ben Wood were co-hostesses Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Wood. Twenty-five guests were invited and a miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Wood.

For her matron of honor, the bride-elect has chosen Mrs. William Tracy, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Carol Peterson and Mrs. Donald Dugan. Miss Christie Lebsack will be the flower girl, and lighting the candles will be Miss Jeannie Rosecrans and Miss Joyce Rosecrans.

William Tracy will serve Mr. Rater as best man, and the ushers will be Donald Dugan and Ben Wood Jr., brothers of the bride-to-be. Craig Tracy will be the ring bearer.

PTA Board Meetings

A meeting of the board of IRVING PTA has been scheduled for Tuesday morning, Sept. 28, at the school. The members will meet at 10 o'clock.

Officers and board members of Whittier PTA were guests at an informal coffee this week held at the home of Mrs. E. J. O'Neill, PTA president. Plans were discussed for the group's activities and for the first meeting of the fall to be held Oct. 19, with Julius Humann as guest speaker.

The wedding is planned for Saturday morning, Oct. 9, and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Joseph's Church in Beatrice.

MISS NADINE WITOWSKI

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Witowski of Beatrice announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nadine Ruth, formerly of Lincoln, to Richard J. Ullman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Ullman of Burchard.

The wedding is planned for Saturday morning, Oct. 9, and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Joseph's Church in Beatrice.

Winthrop Road Residents To Fight Sidewalk

Council Orders Construction

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Property owners along Winthrop Road from Van Dorn to Plymouth apparently are not going to accept without a fight resolution by the City Council ordering in a sidewalk along the west side of their street.

Attorney Max Kier, who has represented the property owners in their battle against the sidewalk, stated that objections will definitely be made to the Council before anything is done on construction of the walk.

"It seems strange to me," Kier said, "that with all the additions in the city that have gone in without sidewalks the Council should pick out this one area and say a sidewalk must be constructed. The action of the Council is completely unfair and unjust."

"The city allowed this subdivision to go in and be built up without sidewalks. Now, when the trees and shrubbery have gotten to a point where they amount to something, they come in and want to tear it all out."

City Enjoined

The city was recently enjoined by court order from carrying out plans to put in the sidewalk along

Victim's Shirt Found Near Death Scene

Police and sheriff's officials are continuing the investigation into the puzzling death of the circus roustabout, Robert M. Lincoln, 43, of San Diego.

A shirt with a San Diego tag on the collar identified as Lincoln's was found by detectives near the shallow creek where Lincoln's body was found Tuesday evening. Lincoln had been shot to death.

Identification of the shirt was made by John Hoggatt, 39, of Natchez, Miss., a companion of Lincoln's who was the last known person to see Lincoln alive. Hoggatt is serving out his time on an intoxication charge at the city jail.

Police Chief Joe Carroll said Lincoln's life apparently was taken for $5 which he is believed to have had on his person at the time of his death. Lincoln had earned $6 for one day's work on a construction job. He was last seen Friday night shortly before 10 o'clock.

Lincoln's body was found in a shallow creek bed near West 2nd and J by Floyd Campbell Jr. of 425 C who was digging for fish worms at the time. Lincoln had told Hoggatt he was planning to leave for Topeka, Kan., to work for the All-America Shows there.

The dead man had worked with the Clyde Beatty Circus. Lie detector tests were given Hoggatt Thursday, but the results have not yet been made known.

the curb line. The court order was agreed to by the city legal department on the grounds that the city's sidewalk ordinance does not give the Council authority to place walks at the curb line.

The curb walk had been a move by the Council to attempt to get the walk in and leave property owners fairly satisfied by not destroying as many trees and shrubs.

After the court order, the Council then voted four to two in favor of ordering in a walk four feet back from the curb line. This authority, according to Deputy City Attorney Jack Pace, is granted in the sidewalk ordinance.

Concerned For Safety

Council members voting for the sidewalk generally explained their vote as a concern for the safety of children traveling to and from Sheridan School at 2360 So. 31st. Property owners have objected to the walk because of the trees and shrubs that would have to be removed for the construction.

As to further legal action on the part of Winthrop Road property owners, Kier stated "we whipped them once in court so I hope we don't have to resort to such action again."

The resolution by the Council ordering property owners to construct the walk four feet back from the curb line was passed Sept. 13. The city, 10 days after notice of this action has been given property owners, is authorized under the resolution to proceed to have the walk constructed itself and assess the cost thereof back against the property owners.

$6 Fine Paid By Judge On Traffic Charge

District Judge Harry A. Spencer was fined $6 and costs of $3.50 Thursday in Municipal Court after pleading no contest to a charge of speeding.

Spencer did not personally appear in court, but was represented by Attorney Robert Van Pelt.

The court was told Spencer had been clocked by radar at 42 miles an hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone. The arrest was made Aug. 28, the ticket dismissed Aug. 31 by Police Chief Joe Carroll, and resoled for issuance through the court Wednesday by the city legal department.

Mayor Clark Jeary under orders from the City Council Thursday held a conference with Chief Carroll, and following asked the chief to submit to him a report in writing concerning "discrepancies" between Carroll's earlier report of the incident and later reports given by the legal department to the Council.

The report is expected to be submitted to the Council at next Monday's morning meeting. Final disposition of the case is expected to be made at that meeting.

Chief Carroll said he had dismissed the ticket after a request for an investigation of it by Judge Spencer because of a "possibility of error." Spencer said at the time "Carroll apparently had agreed" with him on that possibility.

... Spare That Tree'

This long row of stately oak trees would be removed if a sidewalk was constructed as has been ordered by the City Council along the west side of Winthrop Road from Van Dorn to Plymouth. Property owners have

U.N. Offered 'Atoms For Peace' Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Secretary of State Dulles Thursday called for the creation by next year at least of an international agency for the peaceful use of atomic energy despite the refusal of Russia to co-operate.

In new and daring moves, Dulles also proposed to an intently listening U.N. Assembly that the U.N. convene next spring an international scientific conference to consider the whole vast subject.

In his important policy speech to the Assembly and in a letter formally stating the United States is raising this atomic issue as a new item in the Assembly, Dulles made it clear the United States will go ahead outside the U.N. and in concert with those nations desiring to take part in the broad program. He indicated, however, the U.N. will be kept informed of developments.

He also made it clear that the Russians were welcome to come along if they wished but that at any rate the United States will not accept the familiar Russian "nyet" as a final block to the program first enunciated by President Eisenhower to the U.N. Assembly last Dec. 8.

Dulles disclosed that the Russians only Wednesday, having heard he would deal with this subject in his talk Thursday, had offered to resume conversations on the pool for peaceful uses of the atom. But, he said, they showed no sign of receding from the opposition expressed months ago.

Dulles' plan for creation of the agency and for the conference were two points of a four-point plan put before the Assembly. He also suggested the opening next year, in the United States, of a reactor training school where students from abroad may learn the working principles of atomic energy with specific regard to its peacetime uses.

Col. Fleming Is Ordered Dismissed For Collaborating With Reds

PT. SHERIDAN, Ill. (UPI)—Col. Harry Fleming, a veteran of two wars, Thursday was ordered dismissed from the Army for collaborating with his Communist captors in Korea.

An 11-officer court-martial that convicted him Wednesday ordered also that he forfeit all pay and allowances.

Fleming, white-haired at 46, vowed to "do everything I can to clear my name."

His civilian attorney, Alfred E. LaFrance of Racine, Wis., president-elect of the Wisconsin State Bar Assn., asserted the case will be pressed to "the highest review."

Rate Reduction For Wholesale Gas Not Yet To Affect Retail Prices

The $315,000 annual rate reduction by Northern Natural Gas Co., wholesale suppliers of Central Electric and Gas Co. of Lincoln, is not expected to be reflected before the first of the year in retail rates here.

This application has been applied for with an effective date of Dec. 27, 1954.

The $315,000 Northern reduction was ordered by the FPC as a result of invalidation by the Supreme Court of the Texas gathering tax on natural gas which effected Northern's production costs.

'Hostile Campaign'

LONDON (UPI)—Russia has accused Iran—which recently announced discovery of a Communist spy ring in its armed forces—of starting a "hostile campaign in relation to the U.S.S.R." Moscow radio said that Soviet Ambassador A. I. Lavrentyev delivered a note to the Iranian government protesting a campaign designed, he said, to "deal a blow to Soviet-Iranian good neighborly relations for the benefit of third countries."

Customers entitled to the largest refunds, he said, would get only about 30 cents for the year and half of this would be needed to meet the expense of figuring out the refunds.

Deane reported it more likely that the reduction to them would be shown as income in the next application of Central for a rate change. Such an application, he said, would not be practical as some customers would get less than one cent a month.

H-BOMB VICTIM IS DEAD

U.S. Doctors Never Were Even Permitted To Examine Kuboyama

TOKYO (Friday) — A Japanese fisherman who was dusted by radioactive ash from a U.S. hydrogen bomb—and became the focal point of tension between Japan and the United States—died Thursday night.

Japanese doctors listed Aikichi Kuboyama, 40, as probably the world's first hydrogen bomb casualty. They said he died of jaundice brought on by radiation sickness and a generally weakened condition.

Dr. Shigenobu Kuriyama, vice director of Tokyo Nationalist Hospital, said flatly "radiation sickness was the cause of death."

U.S. doctors have said Kuboyama and other fishermen from the Lucky Dragon, accidentally dusted by an H-bomb blast off Bikini March 1, could be suffering from jaundice resulting from blood transfusions. Japanese doctors challenged this view and refused to allow the Americans to make thorough examinations of the victims.

In Rochester, N.Y., Dr. John J. Morton, director of the American Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission, confirmed that the Japanese never allowed Americans "to treat or even examine the victim." He speculated that the immediate cause of death "probably never will be known."

U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison issued a statement saying: "I speak on behalf of the government and the people of the United States in expressing extreme sorrow and regret at this most unhappy event."

State Minister Masazumi Ando, in charge of H-bomb damage negotiations with the United States, said Kuboyama's death "is a misfortune for all mankind." He expressed hope in a statement that the United States would take "a sincere attitude from a humanitarian standpoint."

The death unleashed another great wave of bitterness in Japan toward the United States. Radios and television stations carried a heavy flow of news on the death and many commentators blamed the United States.

Pleasant Duties Occupy Giants

World Series Melon Sliced; Leo Still Mum On Probable Starter

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants Thursday attended to such pleasant business as slicing up the World Series melon and posing for their team picture at the Polo Grounds, where they will face Cleveland in the opener next Wednesday.

Under orders from Commissioner Ford Frick, player representative Whitey Lockman was not permitted to announce how the series cash will be divided. Frick's office will give out the information, probably after the fourth game of the series.

No matter how they sliced it, the winning share is expected to be close to $10,000 and the losing share about $8,000, richest in history.

Last Day Of Rest

Nobody swung a bat or threw a ball at the Polo Grounds, the last full day of rest in the regular season. According to present plans, Manager Leo Durocher will have no workout Monday but will hold a two-hour practice Tuesday morning.

Durocher still is holding back on his definite starting pitcher. He says he won't make it official until Tuesday nor will he list his starting lineup.

Most people close to the club think Sal Maglie is a sure thing to pitch the opener, if only for the reason that he needs four full days rest to be effective for a second start.

Slick With Pros

The also think Leo will stick with the "pros," meaning that Monte Irvin will be in left field, Hank Thompson on third, and Whitey Lockman on first, regardless of the pitching.

Thompson, incidentally, was held out of part of the final Brooklyn series to give his injured right thigh additional rest. He'll play in Philadelphia over the weekend and will be ready to go all the way in the series.

Durocher named Don Liddle and Wendy McCall as his starters for the two-night doubleheader in Philadelphia tonight. "Everybody will play," he said, meaning that the regulars will be in action long enough to loosen up.

Maglie, Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez—the big three of his starting staff—all will have brief test runs against the Phils. Relievers Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom also will have brief workouts.

Four Left

The Giants finish their regular schedule with two in Philadelphia tonight, one Saturday and one Sunday afternoon. Then they'll hurry home to be guests at an official reception in City Hall Monday noon, followed by a ticket tape parade.

Nobody on the club is paying much attention to the 8½ to 5 odds favoring Cleveland. Nobody is banking much on the spring training record, either, when the Giants beat the Indians 13 out of 21 games.

"You don't go on spring training games," said Captain Al Dark. "They set a record for winning games so they must be a good ball club. Everybody says they have terrific pitching. Well, our pitching is awfully good, too. I expect a good series, awfully tight."

Sal Maglie, who pitched the clincher against Brooklyn Monday night, echoes Dark's thoughts.

"The fellows aren't ready in those spring games," he said. "You can't tell much by those results."

Durocher, riding high on a pink cloud, had nothing but the best to say for everybody.

"Cleveland, a good ball club, just great," he said. "It'll be a good series, just great."

Nats Schedule Statement On Manager Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Calvin Griffith, vice president of the Washington baseball club, said Thursday night an announcement will be made today on the status of Manager Bucky Harris.

Griffith said the announcement will be made at 8 a.m. CST.

Earlier club officials, refusing to confirm or deny published reports that Chuck Dressen will replace Harris as manager of the Senators, called a news conference for Monday morning to give out the official word.

Griffith said Harris will also issue a statement tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Boston. The team ends its tour in Boston.

All seven other clubs must approve a new franchise holder, while six of the eight clubs must approve a franchise transfer to another city.

Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators reportedly has said he would oppose both selling the A's to Johnson and shifting the franchise to Kansas City.

Harris has been the target of blasts by some Washington fans after a dismal season which opened with high hopes.

Clark Griffith, 84-year-old Washington owner and a long-time friend of Harris, previously announced he would follow his long established policy and make no announcement of managerial changes until the close of the season.

The Los Angeles Times said unimpeachable sources report Dressen already has been signed to manage the Senators and that Harris is out after serving as field director of the Senators which led to a pennant as a freshman manager in 1924.

The Los Angeles Times said unimpeachable sources report Dressen already has been signed to manage the Senators and that Harris is out after serving as field director of the Senators which led to a pennant as a freshman manager in 1924.

Harris has been the target of blasts by some Washington fans after a dismal season which opened with high hopes.

Clark Griffith, 84-year-old Washington owner and a long-time friend of Harris, previously announced he would follow his long established policy and make no announcement of managerial changes until the close of the season.

Phils Beat Bucs Twice

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates twice Thursday—for four victories in 22 hours—winning a suspended game of Aug. 15 with a run in the ninth 7-6 and then taking the regulation game 4-2 on a three-run-homer in the first inning by Stan Lopata.

Robin Roberts pitched the one inning necessary to win the suspended game, gaining credit for his 23rd win of the season and his second in two days. The pair of victories moved the Phillies into a virtual tie with the Cincinnati Redlegs for fourth place in the National League.

Curfew

The suspended game resulted when the second part of a doubleheader on Aug. 15 was halted by the Pennsylvania Curfew Law. An inning cannot be played after 6:59 p.m. on Sunday in Pennsylvania. The score was 6-6 at the end of eight innings.

Roberts pitched and won his 22nd game Wednesday night. Manager Terry Moore called on his great righthander Thursday to help win a game the club needed badly in its battle for fourth-place money.

Yankee Lineup

'54 Tribe Not Equal To '27 Yanks

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians were almost a surefire cinch Thursday to surpass the winning record of the 1927 New York Yankees but hardly anyone really believes the current Indians are a better club than Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Co.

The '27 Yankees, regarded by many as the greatest team ever assembled, won 110 games. That American League record stood unchallenged until Wednesday when Al Lopez' newly crowned champions won their 110th game. With three home games left, all against the fifth-place Detroit Tigers, is a safe bet that the Indians will become the second most victorious club in all major league baseball. They cannot match the 116 National League victories turned in by the 1906 Chicago Cubs.

Granted the Indians establish a new league record, does that make them superior to the 1927 Yankees? This is not intended to settle any arguments but a statistical comparison of the two teams would seem to be in order.

Yankee Lineup

Oldtimers would have no trouble remembering the '27 Yankee heroes. In addition to Gehrig at first base, the Yankee infield included Tony Lazzeri at second, Joe Dugan at third and Mark Koenig at shortstop. Bob Meuse, Earle Combs and Ruth formed one of the greatest outfielders of all time. Bengough and Pat Collins were behind the bat.

Backing up those sluggers was a pitching staff composed of Herb Pennock, Waite Hoyt, Urban Shocker, George Pipgras, Dutch Rueter and Wilcy Moore, the latter one of the first great relief pitchers.

Offensively, the '54 Indians cannot compare with the '27 Yankees although they hit about the same number of home runs. Despite Ruth's 60 and Gehrig's 47, the Indians trail as a team by only five, 152 to 151. But the Yankees, with five regulars hitting over .300 to only two Indians, boasted a team batting average of .307, fully 45 points higher than Cleveland's current crew. Also, the Yankees scored 250 runs more than the Indians.

It is no secret that the Indians have won without scoring many runs, relying mostly on their brilliant pitching staff headed by Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. There are some who claim there never has been a mound staff equal to this year's Cleveland corps. The composite earned run percentage, the lowest ever compiled by one staff, seemed to support this contention.

A check into the past, however, shows that the Big Four of the '27 Yankees — Hoyt (22-7), Moore (19-7), Pennock (18-6) and Shocker (18-6) — at least matches the record of the Indians' Big Four — Lemon (23-8), Wynn (22-11), Garcia (19-8) and Art Houtteman (15-7). The four-man totals for the Yankees are 78-28 compared to Cleveland's 79-32.

On top of that, the Yanks had Rueter (13-6) to counter-balance Bob Feller's 13-3, Pipgras (10-3) to offset Hal Newhouser's 7-2 and Wilcy Thomas, whose 7-4 compares favorably with the combined records of Don Mossi (6-1) and Ray Narleski (3-2).

Si Cleveland pitchers have earned run averages under 3 runs per game, a percentage unprecedented in baseball. The Yanks had it only in fielding that the Indians have a definite edge. Their 97.9 percentage is 10 points higher than the Yankees. But when a team averages 7 runs per game, as the '27 Yankees did, it can afford to make some bobbles.

Links, Rockets Put 2-0 Marks On Line

Northeast and Lincoln High put undefeated football records on the line tonight but neither team should have its short win string broken if the games run true to form.

Northeast plays Fremont in Magee Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Lincoln goes to Sioux City for a 7:30 encounter with an old rival, Central High. Both Lincoln teams have 2-0 records, and both Fremont and Sioux City have unimpressive

Fremont beat College View, 7-0, and Norfolk, 6-0, being pressed hard both times. Central lost to Aberdeen, S.D., 26-0, and to West

Waterloo, Ia., 39-7.

Superiority in the line alone should give Northeast an edge over Fremont. Fremont will be without one of its top linemen, guard Ron Kull, who is out with an injury. Backs Bill Pint and Don Wobig are the Fremont main-stays.

Northeast's main worry is over-confidence after upsetting Grand Island, 13-12, last week. The Rockets have been just good enough to win both of their games, however, and should take the Tigers into camp. Northeast won last year, 13-7.

The Other Half

One reason Lincoln High's football opponents cannot afford to concentrate heavily on shifty tailback Roger Krhounek is Krhounek's running mate, Ronnie Galois. Galois (at right) is as much of a breakaway threat as Krhounek—in two games they have scored four touchdowns apiece. Both will be on display abroad tonight—Lincoln High plays at Sioux City Central. Re-organization of the city legal department has been nearly completed with City Council approval of the appointment of Atty. Wayne R. Douce, 26, as a law assistant in the office.

Douce, a native of Fairbury, Neb., who graduated from the University of Nebraska college of law, will serve full-time at a salary of $3,600 a year. He is married and has just been discharged from the Air Force.

Changes in the department will be completed when the council passes a resolution Monday appointing Deputy City Attorney Jack Pace as full city attorney to succeed John H. Comstock who resigned to devote his time to his

Gov. Robert Crosby announced appointment of Frank C. Buita of Omaha to the State Appeals Tribunal, representing employers.

Buita had been an alternate member since November, 1953, and now will fill out the unexpired term of the late John W. Welch, who was the regular member.

Another alternate will be named soon.

Other announcements Thursday, all re-appointments, were:

Mabel Crimes, Rushville, Committee for Reorganization of School Districts, five-year term.

Jack Marshall, Tilden, Board of Examiners in Embalming, three-year term.

Erik Riisness Creighton, advisory committee to the Board of Control, four-year term.

Reds Ask Ouster Of U.S. Fleet

America Turns Down Korea Talk Proposal

TAIPEH (Friday) (INS)—More than 100 Nationalist warplanes blasted five Communist artillery nests along the mainland China coast as the Chinese Reds called for the ousting of the U. S. Seventh Fleet from the Strait of Formosa.

China's Communist Premier Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai was quoted by Radio Peiping as declaring ominously that the Seventh Fleet, maintaining a protective cordon around Formosa Island, "should be driven off."

The Red government chief complained, according to the broadcast, that the American battle fleet was "still patrolling" the Formosa Strait and thus "obstructing the liberation" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's principal island stronghold.

Chou's warning was contained in a statement in which Red China's No. 2 boss also called for an international conference "on the Geneva pattern" to try again for a permanent Korean peace settlement.

"Enslavement"

The Communist Premier rejected as "absolutely unacceptable" a suggestion by Britain's former laborite Prime Minister Clement Attlee that Formosa be put under a U.N. trusteeship.

Chou reiterated the Red promise to "liberate" Formosa and the warning that this objective "could not be sabotaged by America." He also repeated the Red charge that Formosa is held under American "occupation" and "enslavement."

Chou's threatening statement was aired as the Seventh Fleet's commander, Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, conferred with Chiang in Taipei after returning Wednesday from an inspection tour of the 100-mile-wide Formosa Strait.

War Games

Reliable Taipeh sources said that Pride's powerful fleet—reportedly including a Missouri-class battleship, tow aircraft carriers and a score of cruisers and destroyers—has been holding war games in the strait.

Promised, these sources said, the fleet maneuvered not far from the Nationalist outpost Isle of Quemoy, only eight miles off the Red mainland coast at Amoy.

Nationalist light bombers and fighter-bombers swarmed across the strait Thursday night and resumed the "carpet" bombing of massed Red artillery at the island port of Amoy and on Tatan Island.

Flat Turn Down

WASHINGTON (INS)—The State Department flatly turned down a Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai's proposal for a Geneva-type conference to unify Korea.

State Department spokesman Henry Suydam said the department's knowledge of the Peiping suggestion came only from reading news dispatches of the Chinese Foreign Minister's radio address.

Suydam said: "At Geneva we laid down the principles—we the 16 nations who resisted aggression—and the conditions we would be willing to negotiate under. These were: one, recognition of the U.N. role in Korea, and two, recognition of the competence of the Neutral Nations Commission to supervise free all-Korea elections."

Stated Dairymen Are Optimistic'

The Nebraska dairy industry is looking ahead with optimism, a dairy firm executive told the 1954 Agricultural Credit Conference of the Nebraska Bankers Assn.

R. H. Farr, manager of market research for Fairmont Foods Company, said milk production in Nebraska the past 10 years has declined 20 per cent and the sale of milk and cream now represents less than 5 per cent of the cash receipts in Nebraska for all farm product sales.

"Some of the factors which depressed the industry in the past now should work in its favor," said Farr.

He said the federal government's new "more realistic" farm support program which limits acreage should mean less farmer attraction to the relatively stable dairy industry.

Automatic equipment has ended the drudgery of dairy farming, he added, and never, more convenient feed concentrates and improved transportation facilities also should help the industry grow.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, at the office of the City Clerk, up to 10 o'clock a.m., Central Standard Time, Wednesday, October 6, 1954, for the construction of water mains in Water District No. 380, being 58th Street to Crestline Drive and between Taylor Street and A Street, in said City, according to the plans and specifications on file in the office of the City Clerk.

Here is a crossword puzzle that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spot your fortune. Count the letters in your name, the names of your parents, etc., and add them. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every odd or even number, but to right, left, up and down the letters in the direction of the numbered figures give you the message. BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Seems that opportunity knocks but once and the opportunist keeps punching.

* * *

He plays a tattoo on the drama of publicity while snowballing the layout.

The opportunist seems to be the late, laminated five per center with a shoe shine. It is a term of elastic reproach whenever English is whispered.

But why? Let's kibitz Webster's cold deck. Nash says an opportunist is one who turns in the moonlight while waiting for the zoolological moment to sock.

Opportunity cracks up into propitious ingredients parlayed with the clutch and obfuscation to all names on eastern glass doors.

What's wrong about that? You have to grab the bull by the horns if you want extra soap.

Bugs Baer

The epithet of opportunist is being bandied around like bow-legs on a jockey. We trust this monograph on the subject will slow the opportunists down to a slow stamp-

Dull Trade Slows All Grain Profits

CHICAGO — All grains lost minor ground in a dull and dreary trade on the Board of Trade Thursday. The market opened lower and stayed there through to the close.

There was a little recovery in the final minutes but it wasn't enough to put prices back to the previous close in no case were losses larger enough although soybeans snaked several cents at one time.

Wheat closed 14¢-2¢ lower, corn 4¢-5¢ lower, soybeans 3¢-2¢ lower and hard red 2¢ to 3¢ cents a hundred pounds lower.

Irrigation From Oahe Dam Subject Of Study Board

Drainage Is Big Problem

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Interior McKay Thursday announced appointment of a three-man advisory board to review problems in connection with potential irrigation development of the Oahe unit in South Dakota.

The Oahe unit of the Missouri River Basin project was authorized for construction in 1944. Original plans called for irrigation development by the Reclamation Bureau of some 750,000,000 acres.

Drainage Sites

Investigations have been underway for several years to determine the location and extent of lands best suited to agricultural development and sustained application of irrigation water. The tightness of the subsoils has raised the question of the land's drainability.

The consultants appointed by the Reclamation Commissioner W. A. Dexheimer with approval of the secretary, are:

Sidney T. Harding, Berkeley, Calif., a consulting engineer on irrigation.

Charles E. Jacob, Orem, Utah, a ground water geologist and associate professor at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

Drainage Expert

John R. Iakisch, Denver, a consulting engineer on drainage problems and formerly chief drainage engineer with the bureau.

Dexheimer said the panel was chosen after consultation with South Dakota state officials.

He added that Gov. Sigurd Anderson has named an advisory board to work with bureau and farmers.

the consulting board. The members are: Chairman Robert Lusk, publisher of the Huron Daily

Plaindealer, J. W. Headley, president of South Dakota State College, Brookings; Fred J. Henson, state water resources engineer, Pierre; Robert Hippel, publisher of the Pierre Capital Journal; Art Svenby, director of the National Reclamation Assn.; and Harold Fritzel and Earl Cook, Oahe area farmers.

Kaufman holds a Class "C" license.

The complaint was that Kaufman permitted disturbances on the licensed premises. The hearing was held Sept. 15.
